AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Celebrated Andrews Opera Company Friday Night.

The bill for the opening night at the Opera House, Dec. 23, will be "Martha" by the celebrated Andrews Opera Company. They have just filled their engagement in Danville and the Regis- ter.

The performance of "Martha" last night was a notable one—notable for the rendition of Flotow's delightful work by the Andrews Opera Company. Miss French one cannot say too much in praise. Her voice is like liquid pearls, whether in the light, joyous music of the earlier parts of the opera or in the impassioned parts of the latter, it met all requirements—was all that could be desired. It will be remembered here for many a day. Of course her great number, "The Last Rose of Summer," was waited for especially, and what a delightful rendition she gave of it. It was a liberal musical education to hear her.

* * * * *

The piece was well costumed, and in fact every thing in connection with the performance is worthy of the highest praise. The chief numbers, such as "Lost Proscribed" (duet in the first act), "Last Rose of Summer," the quartette, "Good Night," in act third, "Like a Dream" and the "Heart May Forgive You Only," were demanded until the audience seemed never to get enough. The opinion generally expressed was that it will be a long time before we hear such a splendid singing company as the Andrews again.

PUT UP OR SHUT UP.

Col. Boyd seems to be restless over what appears to him reluctance or tardiness in the officials in this state to institute proceedings against those Wilmington citizens who participated in the recent revolution in that city.

There is a chapter of unwritten law in the south which is liable to be enforced as long as politicians of Col. Boyd's stripe make it possible for colored men to dominate white people. That law is as just as if it were printed in the statute books in letters of gold.

That law will always be upheld and defended by the true Anglo-Saxons. That is the crime with which Col. Boyd would charge Wilmington citizens.

The present status of the matter is seen from the following, taken from the News and Observer:

Col. Jas. E. Boyd, Assistant Attorney General of the United States, will in a few days get something that will hold him down for awhile.

Mr. Boyd, it will be remembered, is the individual who betrayed the Ku-Klux, of which organization he was a member. Mr. Boyd is trying to perfect another feat of much the same character.

As stated in this paper some time ago, the department of justice at Washington, of which Mr. Boyd is a part has been taking a great deal of interest in North Carolina affairs, especially that part of its affairs which relates to Wilmington and the riots there after election.

Just before the United States court met here Attorney-General Griggs, at Mr. Boyd's suggestion, wrote to District Attorney Bernard, directing him to prosecute those who were concerned in the departure from Wilmington, of United States Commissioner Bunting who lived with a negro wife.

Mr. Bernard signified his willingness to do whatever might be warranted by the facts in the case and the law governing it, Judge Purnell charged the grand jury, which by the way is a remarkably good one, as to the law governing such cases.

The court has been going on two weeks and still no true bill has been brought in against any of the Wilmington people.

So yesterday another letter came from the department of justice, complaining that the men who exiled Bunting had not been indicted. The tone of the letter was querulous, dictatorial and such as must be offensive to the officers of the court to whom it is directed.

It is understood, like the former communications on this subject, to have been inspired by Mr. Boyd. And as he seems so anxious to have these people prosecuted, regardless of the facts and the state of public feeling in regard to the matter, it will, I am told, be suggested by way of reply to Mr. Griggs, that he send Mr. Boyd down to conduct the prosecution.

Now let Colonel Jeems either put up or shut up.

Two Pointed Questions Answered.

What is the use of making a better article than your competitor if you can not get a better price for it?

Ans.—As there is no difference in the price the public will buy only the better, so that while our profits may be smaller on a single sale they will be much greater in the aggregate.

How can you get the public to know your make is the best?

If both articles are brought prominently before the public both are certain to be tried and the public will very quickly pass judgment on them and use only the better one.

The following is the large sale of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The people have been using it for years and have found that it can always be depended upon.
